Keeping gutters clean:

- Spring is finally here . . . with that comes green grass and the mowing of lawns. As you are mowing and doing other lawn and yard maintenance, please remember that you need to keep all grass clippings on your property. When the clippings are left in the streets and gutters, it has the potential to cause flooding with irrigation and storm water. It is also a violation of Providence City Code 7-1-3. Thank you for your help in advance and all season long.

Thank you from Spring Creek Festival Director:

- A big thank you to all the dedicated people who helped with and attended the first annual Spring Creek Festival held on Friday and Saturday April 19 and 20. Friday night we celebrated with essays about Providence Heroes presented by the winners of the Providence Heroes contest, Kristi DeCoursey and Kaden Bowden from South Cache Center and Elizabeth Spencer from Spring Creek Jr. High. They each did a fantastic job with their essays. Clive Romney and his group "Willingly" performed songs about the importance of remembering our ancestors. Ken Braegger shared his view of Providence history and honored John Theurer and Ulrich Stauffer. To finish the evening, Kent Nyman taught us all how to square dance. A good time was had by all.
- On Saturday the 10K Cabbage Head Fun Run took participants on a road and trail run in the morning, with unique trophies created by Baer Welding. During the day we had fabulous entertainment, a quilt show, art by district students, and brave vendors who stuck it out in the rain and cold wind. The pioneer games, chin up competition and arm wrestling were a hit with all the kids and the pie judging contest brought folks from far and wide. The winners of the pie contest took home gift cards from Maceys. And of course no Providence celebration would be complete without a taste of sauerkraut. Who would have thought we would run out of sauerkraut to taste? It was a hit.
- Thank you also to all those Providence businesses and individuals as well as Cache Valley Media Group who supported this event with donations of prizes and sponsorships which will all help Providence Pioneer Heritage, Inc. provide historic preservation services to Providence histories and landmarks.

Please watch for our second annual Spring Creek Festival next April to celebrate all things Providence. If you would like to volunteer or help in any way with the next celebration, please contact: Kathleen Alder at: kalder@relia.net or 801-564-5562.
