32 Item No. 3: The Providence City Appeal Authority will consider a request by Kathleen Alder, who is seeking a
33 variance to PCC 10-8-3 be granted to allow for a 3' egress window well encroachment into the side setback at the 34 home located at 270 S. Main St. Providence.

- 35 • Kathleen Alder explained that most homes can use their basement areas for whatever they would like.
36 However, with her home she needed to install egress windows in order to use the basement for 37 bedrooms. The window wells are required to be 3' ft deep in order to meet [fire] code. City code only 38 allows them to protrude 2 ft into the 10 ft side setback. K Alder explained that she was able to put 39 correctly sized window wells on the front of the house, but she has a sewer pipe blocking access to the 40 back of the home so that she cannot put window wells there without paying to move the pipe. The ideal 41 spot for another window well would be on the north side within the side setback.
- 42 • S Bankhead explained that the city's code does not prevent new construction from building 3 ft window
43 wells. However, existing homes that were built before the rule was put into place about window wells
44 have a problem if they are right on the setback.
- 45 • R Simmons felt that this might be something for the City Council to consider rather than the Appeal
46 Authority. They could create an ordinance addressing retrofitting of existing homes.
- 47 • R Snow explained that if this situation is not unique, it may not qualify for a variance.

- Chad Woolley, City Attorney, presented the City’s position. The City’s position is that this request does not qualify for a variance and should be addressed elsewhere. C Woolley explained the requirements for a variance listed in state code. All of the requirements must be met.
- The Appeal Authority discussed sending this issue to the Planning Commission to discuss.
